Positive Handling Policy

Adopted by The OWLS Academy Trust on Next Review Due

All schools within the OWLS Academy Trust believe that it is important to establish a safe, secure and stable environment to enable pupils to grow, develop and learn. In order to achieve this, all schools recognise that in certain circumstances managing violence through control and restraint may be necessary.

This policy acknowledges that situations will arise in which staff members will be required to use positive handling, and in some cases reasonable force, in order to manage conflict when other measures have failed to do so.

The aim of this policy is to ensure that actions such as positive handling and reasonable force are used in a correct and safe manner, which is in accordance with the relevant legislation and national guidance.

Legal Framework

This policy complies with relevant legislation, including but not limited to:

- The Education Act 2011
- The Children Act 1989
- The Equality Act 2010

This policy will also have due regard to the following guidance:

- DfE “Use of reasonable force in schools” 2013;
- DfE “Working together to safeguard children” 2015

All schools within the OWLS Academy Trust will implement this policy in conjunction with our Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy, Health and Safety Policy, Behaviour Policy and Equality Policy.

What is Positive Handling?

For the purpose of this policy, “positive handling” is the positive application of force with the intention of protecting pupils and limiting damage to property. The legal framework and national guidance often refers to the “use of force”. For the purpose of this policy all schools within the OWLS Academy Trust shall use the term “positive handling” whenever possible.

Positive handling is used in all schools in order to:

- Restrain a pupil who has lost emotional self-control until the situation is diffused;
- Limit the amount of harm that the pupil involved can do to their self or others;
- Demonstrate to pupils that they are within a safe environment in which adults can contain pupils’ anger and other erratic emotions;
- Protect all pupils against any form of physical intervention which is unnecessary, inappropriate, excessive or harmful.

Positive handling will be limited to emergency situations and used only as a measure of last resort. Where positive handling is required, schools will abide by the following guidance:

- Initial intervention will always be without force;
- Any physical intervention will follow other appropriate actions;
- Staff will take a calm and measured approach in all situations.

Failure to positively handle a pupil who subsequently gets injured, or injures another pupil, could lead to an accusation of negligence.

Positive handling will never be invasive, humiliating, flirtatious in nature or take a form which could be seen as punishment.

Positive handling will be applied as an act of care and control with the intention of re-establishing verbal control as soon as possible and, at the same time, allowing the pupil to regain self-control.

What is Reasonable Force?

There is no statutory definition of reasonable force; it will always depend on the circumstances of the case. Reasonable force is only acceptable to use in order to control pupils or restrain them.

“Control” is in regards to either passive physical contacts, such as blocking a pupils path, or active physical contact such as leading a pupil by the arm.

“Restraint” refers to physically bringing a pupil under control, such as holding them back. This is typically used in more extreme circumstances such as to separate to pupils fighting.

The degree of force which is used will depend on the age, gender and understanding of the pupil.

Staff members will always use actions which are appropriate and in proportion to the circumstances of the incidents.

All incidents which involve the use of reasonable force will be reported to the head teacher, recorded in writing and communicated to the pupil’s parents/carers.

Schools are able to use reasonable force in situations when:

- Disruptive children must be removed from the classroom and have previously refused to leave;
- Members of staff need to control disruptive pupils on school trips or similar;
- Members of staff must prevent a pupil from leaving a classroom when doing so would lead to a risk to their safety;
- A pupil is attacking a member of staff or another pupil;
- A pupil is at serious risk of harming themselves and a member of staff must intervene to prevent this¹.

Physical intervention will never be used as a substitute for good behavioural management in accordance with the Behaviour Policy.

Use of Positive Handling and Reasonable Force

All members of staff are allowed to use positive handling where they believe it to be appropriate, as long as all necessary precautions are taken. The power to positively handle pupils also applies to any individual whom the head teacher has identified as temporarily in charge, such as volunteers.

The decision to physically intervene during a situation is down to the professional judgement of the member of staff and always depends on the circumstances.

Staff will always calmly communicate the reasons for their actions to the pupil and explain why it was necessary in a non-threatening manner. Staff will never give the impression that they are acting out of anger or are punishing the child.

All teachers will develop strategies and techniques for dealing with difficult pupils and situation, which they will use to diffuse and calm a situation. In non-urgent situations staff will always try to deal with a situation through other strategies before using force.

Staff members will always avoid acting in a way that could cause injury; however, dependent on the circumstances this may not always be possible.

Where a member of staff believes that they are at risk, such as where an injury is likely to occur, they will not intervene in an incident without help and assistance of another staff member:

- Emergency intervention is necessary when there is a high risk of pupils being injured or property being damaged;
- If emergency intervention is required, a member of staff will use other methods of defusing the situation without physically intervening until assistance arrives.

Following the event, the pupil involved may be subject to separate disciplinary procedures, in which strategies should be formed to help avoid reoccurrence of such incidents.

Where necessary external agencies such as the LA, or the police if a crime has been committed, will be informed of the incident.

Positive handling techniques which present an unacceptable risk and are therefore in question include:

- The “seated double embrace” where two staff members force a pupil into a sitting position and lean them forward whilst a third staff member monitors their breathing;
- The “double basket-hold” in which a pupil’s arms are held across their chest;
- The “nose distraction technique” which involves a sharp upward jab under the pupil’s nose.

Reporting Incidents

A detailed written report will be kept of any incidents where force is used. Immediately following an incident, the member(s) of staff involved will verbally report the incident to the head teacher and provide a comprehensive written record of the situation as soon as possible. The written report of the incident must be thorough, including as much detail as possible as to what had happened before, during and after the incident, and describing any injuries incurred due to the event.

The head teacher will make the decision as to whether it is appropriate to inform the pupil’s parents/carers of the details of an incident:

- Parents/carers will be informed in writing and a copy of this report will be given to the member(s) of staff involved in the incident;
- The report will inform parents/carers of their right to complain about the use of positive handling and reasonable force.

If a member of staff witnesses or suspects the use of positive handling or reasonable force where another member of staff is actively involved in physical intervention, they will report this to the head teacher immediately.

Any allegations against staff will be dealt with as a matter of urgency, and in accordance with the procedures outlined in the Allegations Against Staff Policy. The head teacher will be responsible for conducting a thorough investigation to find out the correct details of what occurred; this may include talking to other pupils about the incident, for instance those who witnessed the event.

Complaints

All members of staff will be made fully aware of the consequences and legal repercussions that can occur following the use of positive handling and force.

All complaints regarding the use of positive handling or force will be investigated in a thorough and speedy manner. The person making the complaint is responsible to prove that their allegations are true, and therefore it is not for the member of staff to prove that their actions were made reasonably.

In extreme circumstances parents/carers may take civil action or pursue a criminal prosecution. In the case where a member of staff has acted within the law, this will provide a defence to any civil or criminal prosecution.

Members of staff accused of using excessive force will not be automatically suspended as a response to the allegations:

- Careful consideration will be given to whether the case warrants a person being suspended until the allegation is resolved;
- The governing body will always take into account whether a staff member has acted within the law when considering whether or not to take disciplinary action against a staff member involved in an incident;
- Where a member of staff is suspended, the school will ensure that the staff member has access to a named contact who can provide support and guidance;
- The school will provide pastoral care to any member of staff who is subject to a formal allegation.

Staff Training

The head teacher will conduct termly safeguarding training for all members of staff which focusses on the most effective positive handling strategies and use of reasonable force techniques

Team teach techniques will only be used by staff who have had training.

Staff will be made aware of subsequent risks of their actions and fully understand when it is appropriate and necessary to use such actions.

Monitoring and Review

This policy will be reviewed on an annual basis by the head teacher / CEO and governing body, who will consider any necessary changes and communicate the findings of the review to all members of staff.

The head teacher will review records of the use of positive handling and reasonable force on a termly basis, in order to analyse the frequency of occurrence and determine what further measures could be taken to prevent these situations from reoccurring.

Positive Handling Report Form

This school believes that positive handling and reasonable force should only be used when absolutely necessary. With this in mind, this form has been created to ensure that all incidents of this type are recorded. Incidents must also be documented in the Positive Handling Log.
